DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: underlining are commonly used to indicate amendments or changes in the claims as provided in 37 CFR 1.121 and are normally not intended to be printed in the published patent. If underlining is intended to appear in the claims in the published patent, such intention must be clearly indicated in applicant's reply to this office action.

Appropriate correction is required.

Drawings

2. The drawings are objected to because Figure 4 does not appear to show A_i and/or A_o correctly. Furthermore, Figure 4 does not appear to show an end view of an anvil roll correctly. When the sleeve is mounted on the armature, the inner portion of the sleeve will deform and S_i cannot be as shown. Diameter of portions of inside surface of the sleeve will be substantially equal to A_o and other portions will extend through perforations, which will be substantially equal to A_i but not S_i . Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, it is not clear what structure is set forth by "possessing inside and outside diameters which are, respectively, less than and greater than those of said armature". When the sleeve is mounted on the armature, the inner portion of the sleeve will deform and diameter of portions of inside surface of the sleeve will be substantially equal to A_o and other portions will extend through perforations, which will be substantially equal to A_i but not S_i .

In claims 3 and 6, it is not clear what structure is set forth by "said sleeve includes material extending...". Is this referring to material of the sleeve?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

6. Claims 1-6, as best understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Schuster (US 2,257,025).

Schuster discloses all the recited elements of the invention including an elongate, tubular, cylindrical armature (1) and an elongate, tubular, cylindrical resiliency sleeve (4) wherein inside and outside diameters of the sleeve are less than and greater than those of the armature, respectively. Regarding claim 2, see Figure 1. Regarding claims 3 and 6, page 2, left column, lines 15-17. Regarding claims 4-5, see Figure 2.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Schuster. Schuster discloses the invention substantially as claimed except for the armature being formed of expanded perforate metal. However, it would have been obvious matter of design choice to a person of ordinary skill in the art to form the armature out of expanded perforate material because applicant has not disclosed the expanded perforate material provides an advantage, is used for particular purpose, or solves a stated problem. One of ordinary skill in the art would have expected Schuster's perforated metal cylinder and applicant's invention, to perform equally well with either material since both material would perform the same function. See also page 9, lines 9-13 of applicant's specification. It has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Sawyer, Dames, Jr., Greider, and Delhaes are cited to show related devices.
